Between Europe and the Orient - A Focus on Research and Higher Education in/on Central Asia and the Caucasus

History:

initiated in 1999, modified and extended for 5+5 years in 2011

initially focusing on stimulating German academic interest in the region and building/expanding research and teaching capacity at German institutions

subsequently putting more emphasis on capacity development and cooperation with scientists in the region based on equal partnership consequently concentrating funding activities in 2 thematic calls (after exploratory workshops) and several structurally oriented measures

finally developing an exit strategy to sustain previous efforts, desirably in cooperation with institutions in the regions up to 2017, 426 projects funded with an amount of approx. 63 Mio. EUR

Global Issues – Integrating Different Perspectives

- Cooperative funding initiative for research projects generating new insights on understudied issues of global relevance, aiming at an „economically, socially, and environmentally sustainable future for our planet“
- Thematic foci on Social Inequality, Heritage and Change, Global Health, and Human-Environmental Interactions
- Format: 3 to 5 PIs (1-2 from HIC (incl. 1 from Europe), 2-3 from LMIC), up to 1.5 million Euro per project for up to 4 years
- Transnational cooperation on three levels:
 - Design of calls: Experts from different regions of the world
 - Projects: Researchers from high income countries partnering with researchers from low and middle income countries
 - Funding: Major European Foundations

Application, Selection, and Decision

- For most funding initiatives, deadlines are posted on the Foundation's website. In some initiatives, applications may be submitted anytime.
- In case of doubt, it may be advisable to contact the responsible program director in advance before submitting an application. In some initiatives, the Foundation, in a first step, requires an outline of the proposed project.
- For formal requirements of each initiative, please see the respective 'Information for Applicants' on the Foundation's website.
- All applications have to be submitted via the Foundation's electronic application system: portal.volkswagenstiftung.de
- The Foundation seeks transparency with respect to the selection process, but maintains confidentiality concerning the reviewers involved.
- The Board of Trustees takes its decisions based on the reviewers' or review panels' votes at board meetings held three times a year.
- Grants can be awarded to academic institutions only, not to individual scientists. A cooperation partner in Germany is mandatory in all projects.
